Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takashi (JP2000-214517).

Regarding claim 1, Takashi discloses a system for capturing and displaying images of participants in a video conference comprising: means (10/20, Drawing 1) for placing the image of the remote participant in the line of sight between the local participant and the local camera (10, Drawing 1) comprising the image of the local participant, whereby eye contact is established and maintained during the video conference, comprising: common and pre-existing personal computer monitors, including a cathode ray tube and liquid crystal displays of desktop and laptop computers (paragraphs: 0070-0072), common and pre-existing personal computer video camera 10, Drawing 1), including a camera with a flat base, and partial or full screen images of the remote participants as shown in Drawing 1, and a common and pre-existing videoconferencing software (implied in as much as the reference teaches TV conference by using a personal computer: see abstract), a common and pre-existing communications network connections (not shown; abstract: paragraphs: 0031-0043).

Claim 6 is rejected on the same basis as claim 6.

3. Claims 2-5 and 7-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

--(JP408289271A) to Aizawa discloses video telephone in which eye contact is established by using a mirror.

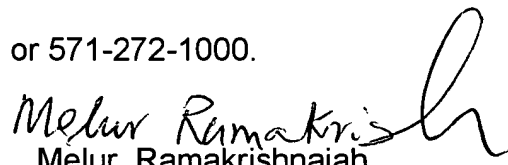

--(US 6,507,356) to Jackel et al. discloses method for improving video conferencing and video calling.
